

TWEHA® ACTIVE IN 46 COUNTRIES WORLDWIDE - THINK GLOBAL, ACT LOCAL!

In today's international construction industry, successful façade projects require more than high-quality products alone. They demand technical expertise, local support, fast communication, and reliable service wherever the project is located.

That is why TWEHA® follows a clear philosophy: Think Global, Act Local

For decades, TWEHA® has combined international façade bonding expertise with strong local partnerships to support clients around the world with professional adhesive solutions and technical guidance.

A Global Network with Local Expertise

Because it is impossible to effectively support the entire world from the Netherlands alone, TWEHA® has built an extensive international network of carefully selected distributors and technical partners.

Today, TWEHA® is active in 46 Countries Worldwide.

Europe remains our home market, but our façade bonding systems and expertise are also successfully applied in regions such as:

- Canada;
- The United States;
- The Middle East;
- New Zealand / Australia
- And many other international markets.

This global presence allows us to support façade professionals locally — in their own language, within their own culture, and according to local market conditions.

More Than Distribution Alone

Our international network is not simply a sales structure.

It consists of:

- Distribution centers;
- Training centers;
- Technical support locations;
- Certified distributors;
- Specialized façade bonding experts.

Every TWEHA® partner follows an intensive technical training program to ensure they fully understand:

- Bonded ventilated façade systems;
- Adhesive technologies;
- Material compatibility;
- Ventilation principles;
- Processing methods;
- Long-term façade performance.

This allows them to deliver real technical added value to customers — before, during, and after the project.

Expert Support Wherever You Are

Since introducing our first façade bonding systems in the 1980s, TWEHA® has always believed that true quality means more than supplying products alone.

Our philosophy has always focused on: Long-Term Support and Expert After-Sales Service

Wherever a project is located, our certified “Partners in Bonding” are ready to provide:

- Technical guidance;
- Product recommendations;
- Project-specific advice;
- Installation training;
- On-site support.

This local expertise helps clients make the best possible choices for every specific façade application.

Knowledge Creates Better Projects

At TWEHA®, we strongly believe that knowledge transfer is one of the most important aspects of successful façade bonding.

That is why we continuously invest in:

- Technical training;
- Product education;
- International support;
- Practical façade expertise.

By sharing knowledge with our certified partners, we create significant added value not only for our distributors, but especially for their local clients and project teams.

Growing Worldwide

To further expand our international presence, TWEHA® is continuously looking forward to meeting:

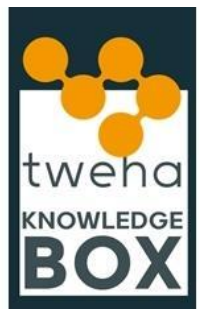

- New distributors;
- Resellers;
- Technical representatives;
- International partners.

Experience in the adhesive or façade industry is certainly an advantage — but passion, commitment, and willingness to learn are equally important.

Because expertise can be developed through proper training and support.

International Experience, Local Commitment

With thousands of projects worldwide and nearly five decades of façade bonding experience, TWEHA® has grown into a globally recognized specialist in bonded ventilated façade systems.

Our success is built on combining:

- International technical expertise;
- Local customer support;
- Professional training;
- Reliable bonding systems;
- Long-term partnerships.

Because no matter where your project is located, professional support should always feel close by.

TWEHA®, 2026
